RACHEL HOROWITZ individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated

Plaintiff,

-against-

AMERICAN CORADIUS INTERNATIONAL LLC

Defendant.

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

Introduction

Now comes Plaintiff, by and through her attorneys, and, for her Complaint alleges as follows:

1. Plaintiff Rachel Horowitz brings this action to secure redress from unlawful collection practices engaged in by Defendant American Coradius International LLC. Plaintiff alleges violations of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, 15 U.S.C.
Section 1692 et seq. ("FDCPA").

2. The FDCPA broadly prohibits unfair or unconscionable collection methods, conduct which harasses or abuses any debtor, and any false, deceptive or misleading statements in connection with the collection of a debt. 15 U.S.C. Section 1692d, 1692e and 1692f.

Parties

3. Plaintiff is a citizen of the State of New York who resides within this District.

4. Plaintiff is a consumer as that term is defined by Section 1692(a)(3) of the FDCPA, in that the alleged debt that Defendant sought to collect from Plaintiff is a consumer debt.

5. Upon information and belief, Defendant's principal place of business is located in Buffalo, New York.

6. Defendant is regularly engaged, for profit, in the collection of debts allegedly owed by consumers.

7. Defendant is a "debt collector" as that term is defined by the FDCPA, 15 U.S.C. § 1692(a)(6).

Jurisdiction and Venue

8. This Court has federal question jurisdiction under 15 U.S.C. § 1692k(d) and 28 U.S.C. § 1331.

9. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b), as the acts and transactions that give rise to this action occurred, in substantial part, in this district.

Allegations Particular to Rachel Horowitz

10. Upon information and belief, on a date better known by Defendant, Defendant began to attempt to collect an alleged consumer debt from the Plaintiff.

11. On or about December 8, 2015, American Coradius International LLC sent a collection letter to the Plaintiff Rachel Horowitz.

12. The said letter was an effort to collect on a consumer debt.

13. Said letter stated in relevant part, the following: "Citibank, N.A. will report forgiveness of debt as required by IRS regulations."

14. Defendant's said statement is deceptive and misleading in violation of the FDCPA.

15. Based on 26 C.F.R. §1.6050P-1(d)(2) & (3), only the discharge of principal need be reported:

(2) Interest. The discharge of an amount of indebtedness that is interest is not required to be reported under this section.

(3) Non-principal amounts in lending transactions. In the case of a lending transaction, the discharge of an amount other than stated principal is not required to be reported under this section. For this purpose, a lending transaction is any transaction in which a lender loans money to, or makes advances on behalf of, a borrower (including revolving credits and lines of credit).

16. A collection notice is deceptive when it reasonably can be read to have two or more different meanings, one of which is inaccurate.¹

17. The language in the letter that states "Citibank, N.A. will report forgiveness of debt as required by IRS regulations" could reasonably be understood by the least sophisticated consumer to mean that I.R.S. regulations require that the client, in all circumstances, report forgiveness of debt to the I.R.S.

18. The words "Citibank, N.A. will report forgiveness of debt as required by IRS regulations" is reasonably read to mean that the creditor will always report forgiveness of debt.

¹ Pipiles v. Credit Bureau of Lockport, Inc., 886 F.2d 22, 25 (2d Cir. 1989) (Because the collection notice was reasonably susceptible to an inaccurate reading, it was deceptive within the meaning of the Act.); Clomon v. Jackson, 988 F.2d 1314, 1319 (2d Cir. 1993) (Collection notices are deceptive if they are open to more than one reasonable interpretation, at least one of which is inaccurate.); Russell v. Equifax A.R.S., 74 F.3d 30, 34 (2d Cir. N.Y. 1996) (A collection notice is deceptive when it can be reasonably read to have two or more different meanings, one of which is inaccurate. The fact that the notice's terminology was vague or uncertain will not prevent it from being held deceptive under § 1692e(10) of the Act.)

19. The least sophisticated consumer would understand this statement to mean that the creditor is always required by I.R.S. regulations to report forgiveness of debt to them.

20. Although the Defendant had no duty to disclose any potential tax ramifications,² when Defendant chooses to give tax disclosures, it must do so in a way that it will not mislead the least sophisticated consumer as to his or her tax consequences.

21. Current case law has made clear, that if debt collectors are providing tax advice with regards to the reporting of forgiveness of debt, they cannot provide vague, incomplete and misleading disclosures that leaves out the essential element that the reporting of forgiveness of a debt happens only if the principal forgiven exceeds $600, and that reporting of forgiveness of a debt would not happen even if the amount is greater than $600, if the amount forgiven contained interest forgiveness so long as the principal was less than $600.

22. The statement “Citibank, N.A. will report forgiveness of debt as required by IRS regulations” is ambiguous, yet the vagueness and uncertainty does not erase the fundamental mischief and deception that the statement intends to cause to the consumer. A consumer reading this statement will be led to believe that if a settlement erases any amount of the debt, then the creditor is required to report the forgiveness of debt to the I.R.S., per the I.R.S. regulations (creating by fear of the I.R.S. another incentive for the consumer to pay the debt without erasing any amount through settlement). However, this statement is inherently deceptive and misleading, by giving erroneous and incomplete tax information - because in actual fact and according to I.R.S. regulations, the creditor will not be required to report to the I.R.S. report all forgiveness of debt less than $600, nor would the creditor be required to report an amount greater than $600 in forgiveness if the amount contained interest.

23. If the creditor wishes to legitimately give tax advice in a sincere manner, one that does not mislead the consumer, then that creditor should specify and make clear to the least sophisticated consumer that only certain amounts require reporting, and that this applies only to principle and not to interest forgiveness.

24. The creditor should also specify what amounts are principle and what part of it is interest, in the amounts owed. Any tax advice that does not specify the tax consequences as it applies to the consumer's circumstances is nothing more than a ploy to elicit a more substantial payment from the consumer than the consumer would have paid, had he or she understood the tax reporting consequences.

25. The use of the words "Citibank, N.A. will report forgiveness of debt as required by IRS regulations" is an attempt by the debt collector to make the debtor think that the I.R.S. regulations always require the reporting of forgiveness of debt. The least sophisticated consumer would reasonably read the letter to mean that the creditor will always report forgiveness of debt as is required by I.R.S. regulations.³

26. In a recent decision, this court found in the case of Kaff v. Nationwide Credit, Inc., 1:13-cv-05413, No. 32 (E.D.N.Y. Mar. 31, 2015) (Towns, J.) that a statement regarding the requirement to file a 1099: "was not strictly true under all circumstances because it failed to apprise debtors that possible exceptions could apply to the creditor's mandatory reporting requirement, such as the exceptions for interest and other non-principal debts."⁴

27. The Plaintiff alleges and avers that the Defendant tends to give erroneous and/or incomplete tax advice to consumers.

28. The FDCPA does not require that tax consequences be identified in collection letters sent to consumers; but where a debt collector has chosen to threaten the debtor with tax consequences, and has done so inaccurately, the false representation causes detrimental harm to the consumer since it concretely thwarts the consumer's ability to freely navigate a course of action in response to the collection notice. The risk in this type of harm is the detrimental impact to the consumer. And such harm is precisely the kind of infringement of the consumer's best interests that the FDCPA seeks to combat.

29. Such a statement in a collection letter suggests to the least sophisticated consumer that failure to pay will get the consumer into trouble with the I.R.S.⁵

30. The Plaintiff alleges and avers that the statement in the said letter is false and misleading, in violation of 15 U.S.C. §§ 1692e, 1692e(2), and 1692e(10).

31. Plaintiff suffered injury in fact by being subjected to unfair and abusive practices of the Defendant.

32. Plaintiff suffered actual harm by being the target of the Defendant's misleading debt collection communications.

⁴ Kaff v. Nationwide Credit, Inc., 1:13-cv-05413, No. 32 (E.D.N.Y. Mar. 31, 2015) (Towns, J.) (emphasis added); Good v. Nationwide Credit, Inc., No. 14-4295, 2014 BL 302150 (E.D. Pa. Oct. 24, 2014) (Finding that the statement "American Express is required to file a form 1099C with the Internal Revenue Service for any cancelled debt of $600 or more. Please consult your tax advisor concerning any tax questions" is not true and does not accurately reflect the relevant law the court also found that the statement's invocation of the IRS was deceptive and materially misleading in violation of the FDCPA.)

⁵ Kaff v. Nationwide Credit, Inc., 1:13-cv-05413, No. 32 (E.D.N.Y. Mar. 31, 2015) (Towns, J.); Wagner v. Client Services, Inc., No. 08-5546, 2009 WL 839073, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26604 (E.D.Pa., March 26, 2009); Sledge v. Sands, 182 F.R.D. 255 (N.D.Ill. 1998).

33. Defendant violated the Plaintiff's right not to be the target of misleading debt collection communications.

34. Defendant violated the Plaintiff's right to a truthful and fair debt collection process.

35. Defendant used materially false, deceptive, misleading representations and means in its attempted collection of Plaintiff's alleged debt.

36. Defendant's communications were designed to cause the debtor to suffer a harmful disadvantage in charting a course of action in response to the Defendant's collection efforts.

37. The FDCPA ensures that consumers are fully and truthfully apprised of the facts and of their rights, the act enables them to understand, make informed decisions about, and participate fully and meaningfully in the debt collection process. The purpose of the FDCPA is to provide information that helps consumers to choose intelligently. The Defendant's false representations misled the Plaintiff in a manner that deprived her of hers right to enjoy these benefits, these materially misleading statements trigger liability under section 1692e of the Act.

38. These deceptive communications additionally violated the FDCPA since they frustrate the consumer's ability to intelligently choose his or her response.

39. Plaintiff seeks to end these violations of the FDCPA. Plaintiff has suffered damages including but not limited to, fear, stress, mental anguish, emotional stress and acute embarrassment. Plaintiff and putative class members are entitled to preliminary and permanent injunctive relief, including, declaratory relief, and damages.

Class Allegations

40. This action is brought as a class action. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of herself and on behalf of all other persons similarly situated pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

41. The identities of all class members are readily ascertainable from the records of American Coradius International LLC and those business and governmental entities on whose behalf it attempts to collect debts.

42. Excluded from the Plaintiff's Class is the Defendant and all officers, members, partners, managers, directors, and employees of American Coradius International LLC, and all of their respective immediate families, and legal counsel for all parties to this action and all members of their immediate families.

43. There are questions of law and fact common to the Plaintiff's Class, which common issues predominate over any issues involving only individual class members. The principal issues are whether the Defendant's communications with the Plaintiff, such as the above stated claims, violate provisions of the FDCPA.

44. The Plaintiff's claims are typical of the class members, as all are based upon the same facts and legal theories.

45. The Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Plaintiff's Class defined in this complaint. The Plaintiff has retained counsel with experience in handling consumer lawsuits, complex legal issues, and class actions, and neither the Plaintiff nor her attorneys have any interests, which might cause them not to vigorously pursue this action.

46. This action has been brought, and may properly be maintained, as a class action pursuant to the provisions of Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure because there is a well-defined community interest in the litigation:

- (a) Numerosity: The Plaintiff is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that the Plaintiff's Class defined above is so numerous that joinder of all members would be impractical.
- (b) Common Questions Predominate: Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Plaintiff's Class and those questions predominate over any questions or issues involving only individual class members. The principal issues are whether the Defendant's communications with the Plaintiff, such as the above stated claims, violate provisions of the FDCPA.
- (c) Typicality: The Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the class members. Plaintiff and all members of the Plaintiff's Class defined in this complaint have claims arising out of the Defendant's common uniform course of conduct complained of herein.
- (d) Adequacy: The Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class members insofar as Plaintiff has no interests that are adverse to the absent class members. The Plaintiff is committed to vigorously litigating this matter. Plaintiff has also retained counsel experienced in handling consumer lawsuits, complex legal issues, and class actions. Neither the Plaintiff nor her counsel have any interests, which might cause them not to vigorously pursue the instant class action lawsuit.
- (e) Superiority: A class action is superior to the other available means for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy because individual joinder of all members would be impracticable. Class action treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum efficiently and without unnecessary duplication of effort and expense that individual actions would engender. Certification of a class under Rule 23(b)(1)(A) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is appropriate because adjudications with respect to individual members create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications which could establish incompatible standards of conduct for Defendant who, on information and belief, collects debts throughout the United States of America.

47. Certification of a class under Rule 23(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is also appropriate in that a determination that the above stated claims, violate provisions of the FDCPA, and is tantamount to declaratory relief and any monetary relief under the FDCPA would be merely incidental to that determination.

48. Certification of a class under Rule 23(b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is also appropriate in that the questions of law and fact common to members of the Plaintiff's Class predominate over any questions affecting an individual member, and a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy.

49. Further, Defendant has acted, or failed to act, on grounds generally applicable to the Rule (b)(1)(A) and (b)(2) Class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief with respect to the Class as a whole.

50. Depending on the outcome of further investigation and discovery, Plaintiff may, at the time of class certification motion, seek to certify one or more classes only as to particular issues pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(4).

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

51. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all of the above paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully stated herein.

52. This cause of action is brought on behalf of Plaintiff and the members of a class that consist of all persons whom Defendant's records reflect resided in the State of New York:

- a) who were sent a collection letter in substantially the same form letter as the letter sent to the Plaintiff, within one year prior to the date of the within complaint up to and including the date of the filing of this complaint;
- b) the letter was sent to a consumer seeking payment of a personal debt;
- c) the collection letter was not returned by the postal service as undelivered;
- d) the Defendant's statement in the said December 8, 2015 letter concerning tax consequences is false and misleading, and omits to state material facts, in violation of 15 U.S.C. §§ 1692e, 1692e(2), and 1692e(10).

Violations of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act

53. Defendant's actions as set forth in the complaint violated the FDCPA.

54. Because Defendant violated the FDCPA, Plaintiff and members of the class are entitled to damages in accordance with the FDCPA.

55. As a direct and proximate result of these violations Plaintiff and class members have suffered harm and are entitled to preliminary and permanent injunctive relief, and to recover statutory damages, costs and attorney's fees.

Jury Demand

56. Plaintiff demands a trial by jury.

Prayer for Relief

57. Plaintiff demands the following relief:

WHEREFORE, the Court should enter Judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendant for:

- 1) Statutory damages under the FDCPA, 15 U.S.C. § 1692(k);
- 2) Attorney fees, litigation expenses and costs of suit;
- 3) An order enjoining and directing Defendant to comply with the FDCPA in its debt collection activities; and
- 4) Such other and further relief as the Court deems proper.
